

Alice Smith
Tucson, AZ 85721
asmith721@email.com
123-456-7889

Objective:

Motivated undergraduate psychology student at the University of Arizona with a strong academic background and a passion for understanding human behavior. Seeking an entry-level position in psychology to gain practical experience and contribute to research or clinical projects.

Education:

Bachelor of Arts in Psychology University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ Expected Graduation: May, 2025

Relevant Courses:

- Introduction to Psychology
- Research Methods in Psychology
- Abnormal Psychology
- Developmental Psychology
- Social Psychology
- Cognitive Psychology
- Statistics for Behavioral Sciences

Skills:

- Research Methods: Proficient in conducting psychological research, including experimental design, data collection, and statistical analysis using SPSS.
- Communication: Strong written and verbal communication skills, with experience in presenting research findings.
- Data Analysis: Skilled in data interpretation, qualitative and quantitative analysis, and literature reviews.
- Empathy: Compassionate and empathetic listener with a deep interest in helping individuals overcome challenges.
- Teamwork: Collaborative and adaptable in team environments.
- Computer Skills: Proficient in Microsoft Office Suite (Word, Excel, PowerPoint).

Research Experience:

Research Assistant Psychology Department, University of Arizona March, 2023 - Present

- Assist in conducting experiments and studies related to cognitive psychology and memory.
- Prepare research materials, administer surveys, and collect data from participants.
- Analyze data using SPSS and assist in interpreting research findings.
- Collaborate with senior researchers on projects and contribute to research publications.

Undergraduate Research Project University of Arizona May, 2023 - August, 2023

- Designed and executed an independent research project examining the impact of stress on memory retention.
- Collected and analyzed data, presenting findings at the University's annual psychology research symposium.
- Developed a comprehensive research report and presented results to faculty members.

Internship Experience:

Intern Tucson Counseling Associates Tucson, AZ May, 2022 - August, 2022

- Assisted licensed psychologists in conducting assessments and therapeutic sessions.
- Observed and documented patient interactions and progress.
- Participated in case conferences and contributed to treatment planning.
- Gained insights into various therapeutic approaches and client-centered care.

Extracurricular Activities:

- Member, University of Arizona Psychology Club
- Volunteer, Red Cross

Languages:

- Fluent in English (written and spoken)
- Fluent in Spanish (written and spoken)
- Conversational proficiency in German